Project Story

Hartford Homes wanted classical equipment for a new housing development in the isle of man. they wanted the playground equipment to provide traditional play values such as climbing, sliding, spinning and swinging. The play area needed to complement the surrounding homes in terms of build, quality and aesthetics.

During a meeting at Hartford Homes offices Proludic were shown their marketing material for their new development at Cronk Cullyn. It was clear that a natural, wooden aspect was at the forefront of their material and style.

The aesthetics and natural materials of our Origin range were agreed to be the perfect complement to the natural cedar cladding that adorns the neighbouring homes. The result of our origin range amongst the properties is a play area that blends in seamlessly with its surroundings.
