Project Story

Proludic worked closely in partnership with the main contractors, Higgins ensuring we met the strict timelines set in order to achieve the completion date. Health and Safety and site conditions demanded a high level of safety awareness and compliance.

Our high calibre of subcontractors worked within the strict H&S conditions to deliver a faultless installation on time and within budget. The natural elements of Origin sit beautifully against the backdrop of the urban London landscape and modern architectural design of the housing development

The limited free space within the new housing development meant we had to be very clever with the design. Proludic worked with our architect to ensure that a high-quality product was used to blend in with the surroundings and enhance the finished outdoor space for all the residents.
